

Corporate Members Workshop

The Agile Organization

How to implement agile methods for a faster, better and more productive working environment

Internet companies and start-ups already use agile methods to be faster at the market than their competitors. Several companies in Europe use agile methods for being more successful than their international competitors. Generation Y employees have different demands to an employer. What has to be different for being successful in a volatile world? How can big organizations change from a classical and hierarchical company to a fast, agile and productive company with high quality products – and employees who love to go work?

This workshop will introduce to the most important methods and theories for agile organizations. Scrum, Kanban, Management 3.0, green and teal organizations will have a different meaning to you. You will learn how self-management for teams works and how to do better management. Finally, it should give you the vision of an integrated and meaningful organization of the future.

Godela Tönnies works as an independent management consultant, coach, facilitator and project manager for corporate and medium-sized organizations. She holds a degree in political economy and certifications as Scrum Master (CSM®), Product Owner (CSPO®) and Project Manager Professional (PMP®). She knows the classical, hierarchical organizations well, and is enthusiastic for agile organizations with focus on people.
